

YALOVA UNIVERSITY
FACULTY OF ECONOMICS AND ADMINISTRATIVE SCIENCES
DEPARTMENT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

SYLLABUS

Course Name / Code	INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS – CIR 305
Instructor	Övgü Kalkan Küçüksolak, PhD
Course Hours	Thursday, 13:00-16:00 (308), 16:00-19:00 (308)

Aim of the Course

- This course is designed to address the foundations, nature, role and behavior of international organizations. While the origin of the idea of international organization will be examined through philosophical and historical dimensions, the evolution and functioning of contemporary international organizations will be examined through their roles in world politics. Particular emphasis will be put on the United Nations.

Learning Outputs

Upon completion of this course, you will be able to:

- analyze the role of international organizations in world politics
- understand the foundations and functioning of international organizations
- discuss international organizations from different theoretical approaches

Weekly Course Schedule

Week	Topic	Material
1	Introduction	Bennett , chp.1
2	Mainstream Theories	Pease, chp.3
3	Mainstream Theories	Pease, chp.3 (59-75) Liberalism & chp 4. (106-109) Constructivism
4	The Development of International Organization in the 19th Century	Claude, chp.2
5	The League of Nations	Bennett, chp.2
6	The Genesis of the UN	Bennett, chp. 3
7	Film Screening: No Man's Land
8	MID-TERM EXAM
9	Basic Principles and Organization of the UN	Bennett, chp.4
10	UN & the Security Issues	Pease, chp.5 UN Peacebuilding: An Orientation, 2010. United Nations Peacekeeping Operations: Principles and Guidelines, 2008. UN Report of Secretary- General: Preventive Diplomacy: Delivering Results, 2011.

YALOVA UNIVERSITY
FACULTY OF ECONOMICS AND ADMINISTRATIVE SCIENCES
DEPARTMENT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

		Rama Mani ve Richard Manzio, Peaceful Settlement of Disputes and Conflict Prevention, 2017.
11	Human Rights and Humanitarian Issues	Pease, chp.9
12	Transnational Relations and International Organization	Bennett, chp.11
13	Conclusion

Evaluation Methods and Tools

Examinations will cover materials presented in the class such as classroom discussions, assignments, group projects, case studies, lectures, Power Point presentations, student experiences/ responses. Additional information provided and mentioned by the instructor during the courses can also be asked in examinations. Class attendance and participations during the lecture will be considered positively in the overall evaluation.

Course Materials

- Teaching procedures for this course will basically include Power Point presentations, exercises, case studies, class discussions, reading assignments and examinations.

Textbooks:

Pease, Kelly-Kate (2012). International Organizations (Fifth Edition). Nw Jersey: Pearson.

Bennett, A. LeRoy (1995). International Organizations: Principles and Issues (Sixth Edition). New Jersey: Prentice Hall.

Claude, L. Inis (1956). Swords into Plowshares: The Problems and Progress of International Organization. New York: Random House.

Griffiths, Martin and O'Callaghan, Terry (2002). International Relations: The Key Concepts. New York: Routledge.

Method

The instructor may use studies, lectures, questions and exercises from the textbook and articles. The course is taught in English.

Attendance Procedures

- According to regulations, course attendance is obligatory.
- Attendance is a significant and serious indicator of success in the course. Students are responsible for arriving class on time, following the flow of courses carefully and remaining in the class until the end of session.
- Course contents are tightly related and sessions continue progressively. Thus, missing courses will negatively affect the overall achievement of students.

Note: In case you miss a class, please contact your instructor via e-mail and learn the contents mentioned in class. Also check if you have any assignments due for the International Organizations course. Even if you miss a class because of unexpected and involuntary reasons, make sure to cover the topics and catch up with your classmates. At the end of the term, instructor will check the attendance of all students in class.

YALOVA UNIVERSITY
FACULTY OF ECONOMICS AND ADMINISTRATIVE SCIENCES
DEPARTMENT OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Academic Dishonesty

Plagiarism will not be tolerated under any circumstance and no excuse will be accepted. If you ever use a source, cite it properly as seen above. Those quotation marks make a huge difference. Cheating (in Turkish “aldatmak”, “sahtekarlık”, “hile”) known as “kopya” is a serious and punishable act. We strongly recommend that you keep your benign reputation as IR student.

Course Adjustments and Changes

The course syllabus is an overall guide for the International Organizations class. Instructor reserves the right to make periodic and specific changes-adjustments to the syllabus, which can cover assignments, group projects, case studies, schedule, examinations, etc.